Death of Sam B. Hayzlett.

The death of Sam B. Hayzlett, which occurred at his home, near Graham, on October 18, 1916, removes from this stage of action a conspicuous figure in this section of Northwest Missouri, and one who did much toward the breeding and development of the best breeds of cattle and hogs. A man, who by his wonderful industry and perseverance, accomplished much, and was, in most respects, a success. No man, who ever had the pleasure of knowing him intimately, that did not have the highest regard for him, and regarded him as the soul of honor, and whose integrity was never questioned by them. His life was worth its living, and his example worthy of emulation.

Samuel B. Hayzlett was born near Greenfield, Indiana, August 6, 1842, where he grew to manhood, and in 1865 he came to Nodaway county, Mo., and in 1866, he located on the farm of some 1400 acres, some three miles south of Graham, in Nodaway county, to which he gradually added until he had accumulated some 1800 acres, which was considered among the finest tracts in Nodaway county, Missouri.

In 1874, Mr. Hayzlett was united in marriage to Miss Samantha Cole, to which union nine children were born, all of whom are now living—Stoughton, Logan, Elmer, Gould, Mrs. Charles Miller, Mrs. R. L. Noble, Mrs. Lee Wright, and Myrtle and Grace, both single and at home.

Many years ago, Mr. Hayzlett and a Mr. D. K. Shaw formed a partnership in breeding Hereford cattle, and at one time had a large herd of purebred white-faced cattle, and in the early '90's, they dissolved partnership, and Mr. Hayzlett became interested in fine horses, and about that time Mr. Hayzlett sold part of the farm to the Prather heirs, some 900 acres, and in 1911, Mr. Hayzlett traded the remainder of the farm, some 900 acres to Messrs. E. M. Miller and W. G. Andes for some 2000 acres of land in Dallas county, Mo., to where Mr. Hayzlett and family located in 1914, but the health of Mr. Hayzlett failed rapidly and in April, 1916, he with his family, returned and located at Graham, Mo., and where he passed away on October 18, 1916. Funeral services were held and the body interred in the Prairie Home cemetery on October 20, 1916. He left his wife and all the children surviving him, as well as one brother, Wash, Hayzlett, who is in very delicate health.

He Was There.

P. Lloyd Lewis, of the class of 1893, was on deck with both his number thirteen, in attendance at the great meeting of the electrical men at Indianapolis, last week.

Lloyd is now located in Kansas City and has a conspicuous place in the electrical world in this section of the country.

"The Red Devil," of Indianapolis, Indiana, an electrical publication, in its issue of October 19th, says:

"P. Lloyd Lewis brought all his titles with him. Let's see: President of the Kansas City Electrical Club, Entertainment Executive Committee of the Kansas City Ad Club, and a lot of other titles."

Mrs. Lewis accompanied Lloyd and looked after him with a jealous care, especially after running on to him while addressing the great army statue in the public square at Indianapolis. She found time, however, to be conspicuous and attractive at many social functions during the meeting.

NERO.
Freezing and below freezing temperature prevailed over portions of Missouri, Thursday and Friday night of last week, October 19. The temperature went as low as 17 degrees, and a mantle of snow, measuring half an inch, covered old mother earth. It was a genuine touch of winter, but we have had many worse ones. In 1898, we had a 12-inch snowfall in October, and a 15-inch fall the same month in 1908. In fact, we have had 17 October snows since 1855.

The South was rocked by an earthquake on Wednesday of last week, October 18, while a tropical hurricane was playing with the gulf coast. Knocked Out.
Miss Dale Zeller, who is attending the Kirksville Normal, has been laid up for repairs, but her many friends will be glad to know that she is recovering nicely. She attended a foot ball game on October 13, and, of course, enjoyed it. After the game, she concluded to drop to the ground, between the seats in the bleachers stand, instead of just walking down the seats like the other folks. She had no sooner touched the ground, when a 200-pound fellow took the same notion to do the "dropping act," and the result was that he lit square on the shoulders and head of Miss Dale, crushing her to the ground, and bruising her quite badly. She is now all right, though.

FOR A MERCHANT MARINE WITHOUT FEDERAL COMPETITION.

Again, we must build up our merchant marine. It will not aid to put the government into competition with private owners. That, it seems to me, is a counsel of folly. A surer way of destroying the promise of our foreign trade could hardly be devised. It has well been asked, "Does the government intend to operate at a profit or at a loss?" We need the encouragement and protection of government for our shipping industry, but it cannot afford to have the government as a competitor.—From Mr. Hughes' Speech of Acceptance.

DECRYING INTERFERENCE, WE INTERFERED IN MEXICO EXASPERATINGLY.

The dealings of the administration with Mexico constitute a confused chapter of blunders. We have not helped Mexico. She lies prostrate, impoverished, famine stricken, overwhelmed with the woes and outrages of internecine strife, the helpless victim of a condition of anarchy which the course if the administration only served to promote. For ourselves, we have witnessed the murder of our citizens and the destruction of their property. We have made enemies, not friends. Instead of commanding respect and deserving good will by sincerity, firmness and consistency, we provoked misapprehension and deep resentment. In the light of the conduct of the administration no one could understand its professions. Decrying interference, we interfered most exasperatingly. We have not even kept out of active conflict, and the soil of Mexico is stained with the blood of our soldiers. We have resorted to physical invasion only to retire without gaining the professed object. It is a record which cannot be examined without a profound sense of humiliation.—From Mr. Hughes' Speech of Acceptance.

The president has boldly signed the Pork river and Harbor bill, and his facile pen is dripping with ink eager to attach itself to a pork public buildings bill.

The friendliest apologists of the president's part in the prodigal waste of money wrung from the people by oppressive taxation have nothing better to say for him than that it is hardly fair to expect a man to say "I forbidd" in his presidential year when he is a candidate.

The foregoing words describing the prodigal waste of the people's money with executive approval are taken without change from a plank of the platform on which Woodrow Wilson was elected in 1912.

"We denounce the prodigal waste of money wrung from the people by oppressive taxation through the lavish appropriations of recent Republican congresses, which have kept taxes high and reduced the purchasing power of the people's toil. We demand a return so that simplicity and economy which befits a democratic government."

How much is now left of the principles declared and the promises registered at Baltimore as inducements to citizens to vote for Wilson.

Possibly it is because he and his party have been such reckless, such wholesale repudiators of the pledges of 1912 that few people remember or care to remember what pledges were made in his behalf about forty days ago at St. Louis.—New York Sun.

THE AMERICAN WORKING MAN SHALL NOT SUFFER

The Republican party stands for the principle of protection.

We must apply that principle fairly, without abuses, in as self-entitled a manner as possible; and congress should be aided by the investigations of an expert body.

We stand for the safeguarding of our economic independence, for the development of American industry, for the maintenance of American standards of living.

We propose that in the competitive struggle that is about to come the American working man shall not suffer.—From Mr. Hughes' Speech of Acceptance.

Phrases which will NOT occur in the Woodrow Wilson speech of acceptance:

Psychological prosperity. Misses to catch flies. Strict accountability. Too proud to fight. Salute the flag. Get Villa. But in.
